DEERING

If You had a Million

Eph. 1.11-12 Also in union with him we were given an inheritance, we who were picked in advance according to the purpose of the One who effects everything in keeping with the decision of his will, so that we who earlier had put our hope in the Messiah would bring him praise commensurate with his glory.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT-FACULTY

STRIKE

against

THE WAR, RACIAL OPPRESSION, THE DRAFT

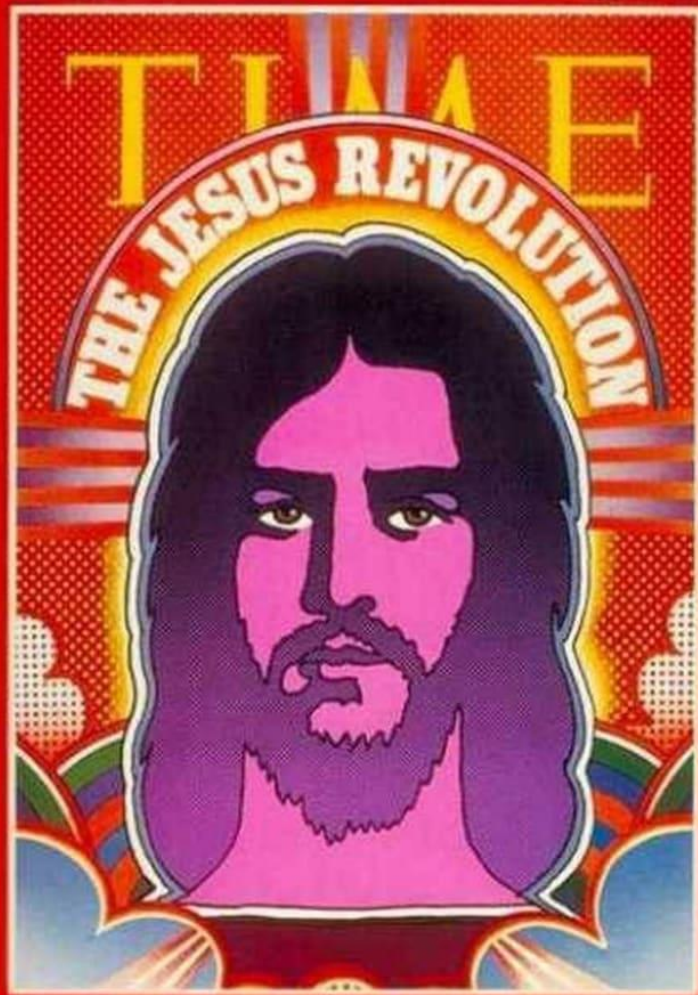

On April 26th students around the world will go out on strike against the War in Vietnam, Racial Oppression and the Draft.

The horror of the war speaks for itself; almost 20,000 Americans dead and more men will die today; over 100,000 more wounded and more men will suffer injury today; hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese slaughtered and more will be killed today; cities and villages totally destroyed. The draft calls soar and exemptions are few. As a nation, we are spending one-half billion dollars a week, $3 million on million!!

YOU have the

So rich in love, so generous without looking for a reason

So different and He is One

Without even trying He moves me.

I'll give You the best, I'll keep the first place for You!

For there is no one who is more worthy than You.

I love you so much.

He is not in a hurry, because He has time

Always ready to spend time with His

Ro 8.16-17 The Spirit himself bears witness with our own spirits that we are children of God; and if we are children, then we are also heirs, heirs of God and joint-heirs with the Messiah — provided we are suffering with him in order also to be glorified with him.

Gal 4.11-12 We pray that you will be continually strengthened with all the power that comes from his glorious might; so that you will be able to persevere and be patient in any situation, joyfully giving thanks to the Father for having made you fit to share in the inheritance of his people in the light.

Eph 1.7 In union with him, through the shedding of his blood, we are set free — our sins are forgiven; this accords with the wealth of the grace.

Ro 9.4-5 The people of Isra'el! They were made God's children, the Sh'khinah has been with them, the covenants are theirs, likewise the giving of the Torah, the Temple service and the promises; the Patriarchs are theirs; and from them,

2 Cor 4.6 For it is the God who once said, “Let light shine out of darkness,” who has made his light shine in our hearts, the light of the knowledge of God’s glory shining in the face of the Messiah Yeshua.

Camp Chalutzim

2023 Update: Camp Minsk

After camp, parents began to contact our team members to share about the difference that they had seen in their children upon their return. One of the emails we received was from the mother of a teenage girl named Emilia.

Prior to camp, Emilia suffered from depression and insecurity. During one of the prayer sessions, she began to cry and sob for a long time.

The next day, she felt a deep joy and happiness that she had never experienced before. Her mother thanked our team many times for their love and service, and said that her daughter was liberated from the depression and deep pain she had been experiencing.

Does that mean that we have a free ride of love, and can do what we want? Continue to sin?

Ro.2.4 TLV Do you belittle the riches of His kindness and tolerance and patience—not realizing that God's kindness leads you to repentance?

Ro.2.4 CJB Perhaps you despise the riches of his kindness, forbearance and patience; because you don't realize that God's kindness is intended to lead you to turn from your sins.

Acts 13.2-4 One time when they were worshipping the Lord and fasting, the Ruakh HaKodesh said to them, “Set aside for me Bar-Nabba and Sha’ul for the work to which I have called them.” After fasting and praying, they placed their hands on them and sent them off.

Acts 13.2-4 So these two, after they had been sent out by the Ruakh HaKodesh, went down to Seleucia and from there sailed to Cyprus.

Nevertheless, not a laid back, relaxed approach to ministry...

2 Cor 11.23,28-29 Are they servants of Messiah? I am more so—I speak like I'm out of my mind—in labors much more, in prisons much more, in beatings more brutal,
near death often...

2 Cor 11.23,28-29 Besides these other things, there is daily pressure on me of concern for all of Messiah's communities. Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is led into sin, and I do not burn with indignation?

Wildebeest migration

A program by National Geographic gives a powerful illustration for us. In the great annual wildebeest migration in Serengeti National Park in Africa a giant herd, thousands of wildebeest, slowly move in groups across the plain. They are invariably followed by stalking lions.

But the lions never attack the herd - they simply watch carefully for the stray wildebeest, either careless or seeking greener grass, who separates himself from the larger groups of animals. The isolated wildebeest will become the sudden prey of the lions who attack with lightening speed and ferocity.

In spiritual warfare isolation is equally dangerous, as our enemy roams like a roaring lion looking for separated brethren to prey upon. We all need real relationship and spiritual community for protection against our enemy who is constantly stalking vulnerable prey.

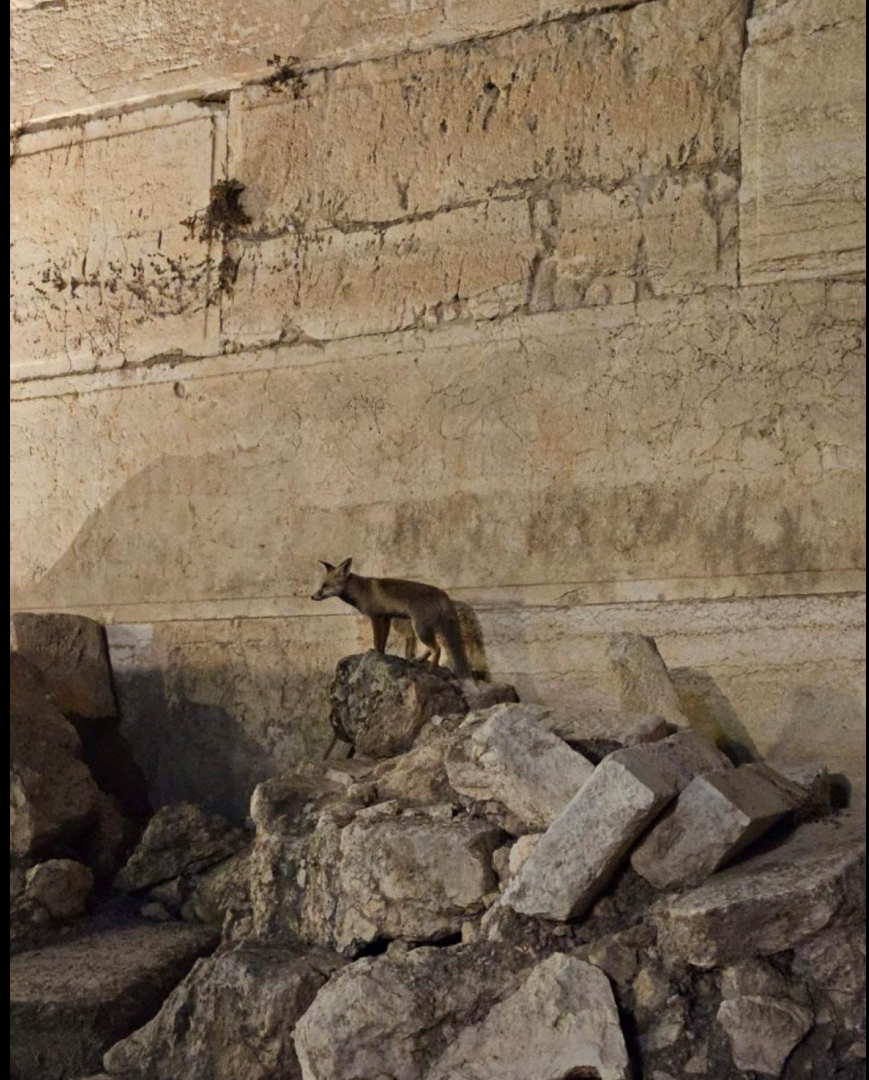

It's not enough to simply "go to service". We need to be the community of believers, actively participating in loving, serving, praying, counseling, giving/tithing, encouraging, admonishing, eating, rejoicing, weeping, and forgiving as the family of God.

Living in His inheritance of forgiving, execution stake love also means trusting Him in apparently bad things.

About 90% of the iceberg are dipped in water. Only the tip of the iceberg is above water and visible.

A fox on the Temple Mount

It is written in the Book of Eikha איכה Lamentations (5:18), which is read on Tisha Be'Av, that Mount Zion – where the Temples stood – will be so desolate that “foxes will walk upon it.”

Mikah (3:12) “Therefore, for your sakes, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem shall become a heap of stones, and the Temple Mount a wooded hill! (a place where you can find foxes).”

The understanding, according to the Talmud Mesechet Makkot (24b) is that if the prophecies of destruction have been fulfilled, so will be the ones by the prophet Zechariah about the Temple being rebuilt.

Ben Shapiro in his Daily Wire:

North American youth face a growing identity crisis: over 300,000 American teenagers identify as the opposite sex, while drug overdoses and suicide are the leading causes of death for younger Americans — claiming over 72,000 young lives in 2020 alone — as loneliness spreads among Gen Z.

A 2016 study by the National Institute of Medicine, however, suggests that membership in a religious group can decrease one's risk of depression and other mental health problems. NAYC's organizers and attendees echoed the study, saying the conference helps youth connect with others and find their purpose in faith.

“How you were born is how you were intended by your Creator to be.” Thomas passionately proclaimed. “God did not put a question mark after your DNA — God put an exclamation point after your DNA! The Word of God says you were fearfully and wonderfully made. Don’t let the world erase how God made you!”

“It is through our relationship with God and His Word that certain questions about our identity can be settled, our direction and purpose in life can be answered, and we can live the whole and complete life we were intended to live,” UPCI Youth Ministries President Michael Thomas concluded.

Nickel Mines Amish School Tragedy

NO TRESPASSING

On October 2, 2006 morning a local man had placed his children on the school bus and kissed his wife goodbye. Then he drove to West Nickel Mines Amish School. At gunpoint, he ordered the adult women and boys to leave. He told the little Amish girls in the schoolhouse, “I’m angry at God and I need to punish some Christian girls to get even with him.” His first daughter died shortly after birth, and he never properly coped with the loss.

The oldest girl, a particularly brave angel named Marian, told the shooter to kill her and leave the others alone. He proceeded to shoot them all, ultimately killing five of them, before turning the gun on himself.

The impact of the shooting was devastating within the tightly knit Amish community. Yet, within hours of the massacre, a group of Amish arrived on the doorstep of the shooter's in-laws to find his widow and children — not for vengeance, but to extend the gift of grace.

The afternoon of the shooting an Amish grandfather of one of the girls who was killed expressed forgiveness toward the killer, Charles Roberts. That same day Amish neighbors visited the Roberts family to comfort them in their sorrow and pain.

In the days that followed, the Amish protected and cared for the innocent family left behind. Not only did the number of Amish outnumber the non-Amish attendees at the shooter's funeral, but the Amish even physically shielded the widow and children from the cameras of the media, a sacrifice that locals understand to be of profound proportions, given Amish teachings about avoiding having their pictures taken.

The Amish didn't allow the shooter to have the final word. They seized his act of unimaginable evil and transformed it into an act of mercy so powerful that it is impossible to tell the story of the Amish schoolhouse shooting without also proclaiming the love of Yeshua that shined through the Amish community in the season that followed.

I mentioned in an earlier blog just how supportive the cancer community is, and how striking is the sense of peace and even joy at the cancer center where I receive my own care. In thinking about all this,

I realized that this mutually reinforcing positive attitude is one of the key factors responsible for that sense of support. Because a poor attitude is so out of place, it probably won't last very long.

As we fix our minds on what is good, what is lovely, what is praiseworthy (Philippians 4:8), and as we orient our spirits toward the true source of joy, our bodies respond. Isn't that a bit like a miracle?
