Matityahu/Mt.19.23-26 Then Yeshua said to his talmidim, "Yes. I tell you that it will be very hard for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of Heaven. Furthermore, I tell you that it is easier for a camel to pass through a needle's eye than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God."

France’s 475,000 Jews represent less than 1 percent of the country’s population. Yet last year, according to the French Interior Ministry, 51 percent of all racist attacks targeted Jews. The statistics in other countries, including Great Britain, are similarly dismal.

In 2014, Jews in Europe were murdered, raped, beaten, stalked, chased, harassed, spat on, and insulted for being Jewish. Sale Juif—“dirty Jew”—rang in the streets, as did “Death to the Jews,” and “Jews to the gas.”

In Hungary, a leader of the right-wing Jobbik party called on the government—a government that has come under criticism for whitewashing the history of Hungary’s collaboration with the Nazis—to draw up a list of all the Jews in the country who might pose a “national-security risk.” In Greece, a recent survey found that 69 percent of adults hold anti-Semitic views, and the fascists of the country’s Golden Dawn party are open in their Jew-hatred.

Delegates at the Evian Conference, 1938

[<http://www.holocaust.com.au/The-Australian-Experience/Before-the-War/Evian-Conference>]

The Évian Conference was convened 6–15 July 1938, at Évian-les-Bains, France, to discuss the Jewish refugee problem and the plight of the increasing numbers of Jewish refugees fleeing persecution by Nazi Germany.

It was convened at the initiative of United States President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The conference was attended by representatives from 32 countries, and 24 voluntary organizations also attended as observers, presenting plans either orally or in writing.

The conference was ultimately doomed, as delegations from the 32 participating nations failed to come to any agreement about accepting the Jewish refugees fleeing the Third Reich.

Only two countries, Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic, increased their quotas. The conference thus inadvertently proved to be a useful propaganda tool for the Nazis.

The Institute shares a key connection to the battle for Jerusalem. Its founder, Rabbi Yisrael Ariel, served with the 55th Paratroopers Brigade that captured the Temple Mount. After the victory, a Jordanian guide gave them a remarkable tour.

The soldiers were on the Temple Mount and it was just like the first hour or so. And they were approached by a Jordanian fellow in Western dress who explained that he was the official tour guide for the Jordanian parliament and he offered to take the soldiers and to show them the sites on the Temple Mount.

[June 1967]

"He takes the soldiers, you know, and the rabbi there, and he says, 'well this is exactly where the sanctuary stood. This is where the altar stood and then this is where the Menorah stood.' "He tells them all these things about the history of the Holy Temple ... [Israel Ariel, as told by Chaim Richman]. Finally, the rabbi asked him, 'why are you telling us all this?'

And he said, 'well, we have tradition from our fathers [and] they from their fathers that one day the Jews would wage a war and conquer this mountain and rebuild the Holy Temple, and I assume that you're starting tomorrow. I want this to be my part, my part in helping you,'" he said, according to Rabbi Richman.

CBN News asked Richman what was their reaction to that story. "Well, I guess they were pretty surprised, but the bottom line is in hindsight; it doesn't look like we were ready."

Gen. Moshe Dayan, gave the Temple Mount to the Waqf!!

[Gen. Moshe Dayan, a secular Jew, gave the Temple Mount to the Jordanian Islamic Waqf

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol complied.]

Now, 50 years later, that's changed with the Temple Institute preparing blueprints and gathering official temple elements such as the priestly garments. All of this means talk of rebuilding the temple is no longer considered a fringe idea.

"Today..." Richman continued. "There are members of Knesset that actually talk about the rebuilding the Holy Temple.

In 1947, 4554 Jewish refugees, mostly Holocaust survivors, sailed towards Israel, then under control of the British Mandate, but were intercepted by British warships. After a bitter struggle, they were turned away and subsequently sent back to Germany.

President Reuven Rivlin met at his residence in Jerusalem on Sunday with 12 passengers who traveled to Israel on the Haganah's Exodus ship, marking seven decades since the ship's iconic voyage to the Land of Israel.

The Haganah was a Jewish paramilitary organization in the British Mandate of Palestine founded in 1920. It became the Israel Defense Forces after the establishment of the Jewish state.

Today, the Islamic republic lumbers on as the Soviet Union did during its last years. It professes an ideology that convinces no one. It commands security services that proved unreliable in the 2009 rebellion, causing the regime to deploy the Basij militias because many commanders of the Revolutionary Guards refused to shoot the protesters.

The seminaries in the shrine city of Qom appreciate the damage that the government of God has done to Islam as the mosques remain empty even during important religious commemorations. Young men don't wish to join the clergy, and women don't want to marry clerics.

The system is engulfed by corruption, which is particularly problematic for a regime that bases its power on divine ordinance.

Early yesterday morning, security forces removed the metal detectors and special cameras installed at the entrances to the Temple Mount. However, in spite of the removal, the majority of those who came to pray still refused to enter. Muslims interviewed on Israel's Channel 2 News claimed that even though metal detectors were gone, special scanners were installed secretly underground, which allow security forces to see people who pass above these scanners as if they were naked in order to check for weapons... (NO, I am not joking...) Last night, riots broke out again after evening prayers.

I received this from a Messianic rabbi, Steve Sheek: I would like you to keep Tree of Life Messianic Congregation in Houston in your prayers. The pastor of the church where we were meeting resigned Sunday and now, two days later, the board of the church asked us to leave. They actually said they didn't want a Jewish group using their facility. So now I am on the hunt for a new location. Pray for G-d's favor in finding a location that we can afford. Our congregation is only 18 months old and we have grown from 16 to 40 in that time. We are small, but steadily growing. I know that Hashem will provide. Steve Sheek

Steve [Sheek],

We faced the very same situation a few years ago when we only around 2 years old. We had 12 members including the kids and it seemed very bleak indeed. We began to pray, asking HaShem's favor and when it seemed hopeless we opted to move into a less than pristine building that you wouldn't invite your dog to eat in. The first Shabbat there only 8 people showed up. One of my people said we should go to the property that we wanted to be housed in (which was an Assembly of God) and sound the shofarot. Now, I don't know if that had any spiritual meaning or not, but it did catch the attention of the neighbors who asked us who we were. We told them and they told the Pastor that some "crazy Jews" who believed in Jesus was blowing horns at his church and told him who we were. On Tuesday we got a call from the Pastor wanting to meet with us. We met on Wednesday and he asked if we were looking for a place to be housed. We told him yes. For the rest of the story...that congregation never rented or leased to anyone in their 60 years of existence. But they did to us. We grew to a little over 30 there and now 5 years later are running over a hundred and looking to build our first synagogue in an area where no one thought it possible. We have people from all over the world attending including numerous former Orthodox and Ultra-Orthodox Jews. It's a test my friend...and I know you and your congregation will come through it and will be amazed at HaShem's handiwork!
